

Great to look back at the work from 6th class this year to support biodiversity.

Crocus and snowdrops flowered during early spring to provide food and habitat for bees and wildlife as they emerged from hibernation.

“Sowing the seeds of the importance of biodiversity”